Hospitals are always there when we need them — caring for all regardless of ability to pay. Their contributions to community health extend far beyond the hospital walls. Connecticut hospitals play a major and continually expanding role in improving community health.

12.3 Million
The number of services provided to individuals and families in 2013.

$1.5 Billion
The amount Connecticut hospitals spent on community benefit initiatives in 2013.

That’s 15% of total hospital revenue.

CONNECTICUT HOSPITALS: Improving health for everyone

SUPPORT SERVICES for cancer, diabetes, asthma, and other chronic conditions

HEALTHY LIFESTYLE education programs

MOBILE VANS and clinics delivering primary and preventive care

SERVICES for the homeless and underserved

CRISIS INTERVENTION SERVICES, and many other services targeted to meet specific community needs

www.CareWeCanCountOn.org